Dear Parents,

My group lessons are a fun and engaging introduction to music for students of all ages, levels of experience, talent, and interest... and excellent for beginners. The classes are entertaining and instructive, and participation comes with a list of associated "non-music-related" benefits—traits and qualities associated with success.

Using electric keyboards and headsets, students work on music of their choice. I build rapport with each student and design a curriculum to hold their attention as they move through the stages of musical development. This ensures they can go at their own pace, and the classes are always fun.

Parents can also influence the curriculum—I can teach a traditional classical course, a blues course, pop music, songs from video games and TV shows, or any other musical choices students present.

Students who choose their music are more inclined to take ownership of their lessons and musical education, and this ownership is fostered in the club environment.

Since this is a new class (Tuesdays) and a minimum enrollment is required, please call or email right away so I can reserve a spot for your child.

Sincerely,

Cody Myers
